A screenshot of the Microsoft Office in Education website. The page features a dark grey overlay on a background image of four students sitting around a table with laptops. The overlay contains the following text: "Office in education", "Students and teachers, get the online versions of Office plus 1 TB online storage for free!", "All you need to get started is a valid academic email address.", a text input field with the placeholder "Enter your academic email address", a green "Get started" button, and a link "School leaders and IT pros, sign up your school" with a right-pointing arrow. The Microsoft logo and "Sign in" link are visible in the top right corner of the page.
